An Affecting Incident at the Funeral of the Late Colonel Wheeler.

An account was given the other day of the death of Colonel Henry Wheeler, the druggist, late of North Carolina, whose colonelcy was earned by gallantry in the Confederate service—a service which lost him an arm at Gettysburg. There was not noticed, however, because it was not generally known, the affecting incident which marked the funeral services of this gallant gentleman, whose kindness of heart and urbanity of manners made him indeed a "gentleman" to high and low, rich and poor. Though a bachelor of thirtysix, his heart had always been warm toward children, especially the poor, and in one of his many fits of generous feeling he had taken a liking to a little Italian boy, bound in slavery to a "padrone." This boy he took from is master, clothed him and fitted him out as a little bootblack and then watched over him and kept him in good advice and substantial assistance. When it came to the ears of "Little Jo"-for that was the name which this waif from sunny Italy was given by the Colenol-that his benefactor was dead, the boy was so overcome that he was unable to be present at the last sad rites, but "among the many floral tributes which covered the remains," as one who was present writes to the Philadelphia Times, "none conveyed to our hearts a better sermon on gratitude than the little bed of white flowers, across the centre of which was formed in purple flowers the words: "From Little Jo"

'This token,' continues the evidently much affected chronicler of the incident, "from one without education, in the other in Georgia, all the trade being a strange country and far from those who should be his protectors, caused many a tear to fall that would otherwise have remained unshed, teaching the moral that no matter how lowly the lot there is some gratitude in human nature after all."

Grant. Grant is wanting in integrity, wanting in intelligence, and wanting in the will to promote the good of the country. The little fellow is avaricious beyond bounds. His cupidity knows no limit. He is no statesmen and no soldier. He never displayed any generalship. He marched at the head-no, not at the head, but in the rear-of an immense column of men that would have accomplished the same results if he had been in the moon. Grant was a mere unimport incident. He never showed a a spark of genius. What inspiring remark did he ever make that cheered his soldiers and helped to win a victory? When did he ever put himself in danger, like Napoleon at the Bridge of Lodi, to give courage to his troops? He never showed a single trait of generalship. He had no sympathy with his men. He never visited the hospitals, or showed any feeling for the suffering wounded. He was utterly remorseless. He was no leader. He had no plans and no strategy. I repeat, that for any good in putting down the rebellion, he might as well have been in the moon. ### CATAWBA. atawba Politics-Card From

HICKORY, Aug. 15, 1878.

J. T. Murrill, Esq. Correspondence of the News.

I am truly glad to notice the spirit of forgiveness recently manifested by the News and others towards those so lately threatened with being thrust out of the Democratic synagogue as promoters of Radical rule again in the State, with all the decested appertainants thereunto belonging. Hope may be the only parent of the thought that your forgiveness is extended to defeated as well as successful, "Independents." The world is ever ready to recognize a patriot in the successful rebel, while his equally worthy brother, failing in his efforts, remains a traitor. From you expect a more liberal judgment, and, as one of the deteated, but yet a Democrat, I say to you, and, if you will allow me, through the columns of the News, to my unsuccessful brethren, "Let us reason together.

While acting as your judgment dictated for the best interest of the party, you have said some very hard things of us, to which I am not disposed to reply, since your subsequent acknowledgement of our fidelity to Democratic principles. Let us hope that none of the more sensitive have been angered and driven to the support of those purposes and aims, so freely, and as I think unjustly, charged to them. No doubt mistakes have been made, and the result over the State shows they were not all on one side. Where Independents have divided Democratic strength and caused Republicans to be elected the mistake is almost without palliation or excuse, and yet we may not say that such a result was expected, much less intended. On the other hand where county conventions have hein used to serve the purposes of cliques, rings and demagogues, and to drive an unwilling, but well organized, democ. racy to the support of candidates not their choice, and in some cases un-worthy of the support of honest men, then the mistake is on your side, and in such cases it is the part of patriotism to oppose, expose, condemn and denounce such action. It is from such acts arises all the defection in our ranks and the excuse for independents and their supporters, as also their success. The independent list in the late campaign showed the names of some of the best men in the State-men who have grown gray in the service, battling against radicalism, and I cannot think they were prompted by worse motives

I did not believe the election this year "the most important ever held in the State," or half as important as that and put on the rolling stock. The road is in running order from Marietta to Canton, a distance of the markets and put on the rolling stock. The road that was a year to put our house in order. government this was the time to correct in nomination: For governor, Alfred them, that we might go into the cam-Murphy in eighteen months or two to haul more heavy loads in policies than anybody. I am a truckler.

| Author occurrence of the people, and insuring success. Of the people and John A. Gardner, of Weakley course, the would-be reformer takes the chances of coming out a patriot, (if he succeeds) or traitor if he fails of election. In either event he has pointed out the rock on which the Democratic ship might otherwise some day be wrecked and beaten. He may have sacrificed his own hopes and chances for future favor, but if he has guided the party from shipwreck and defeat in future, he has done ten times more valuable service than he who harps about party organization, solely because he hopes some time to become its nominee.

In Catawba county, a nomination, however obtained, is considered equivalent to an election. With a Democratic majority of more than four to one, I never apprehended the election of a Republican, though solicited as he said by Democrats, even if we had four instead of three candidates in the field. Under these impressions and in the spirit of the woman who undertook the correction of the so-called head of the family, I became an "Independent" and we were having a very interesting family difficulty, when an intruder in the shape of a well known Radical, vainly supposing us so irreconcileably divided, that he could whip us all came in just in time to learn, however much the Catawba Democracy may seem divided among themselves, the breach is never wide enough for a Radical to crawl in. In all these conflicts there somethings to rejoice over and some to regret. A true philosopher will look to the joyous things, and as I cannot rejoice very much at my own defeat, I can at that of our late Republican candidate. I have one sore regret. It is very humiliating to think that I was one of three Democratic candidates whose combined popularity aided by a Radical bush-shaker to drive for us, could not bring to our united support three fourths of thedemocratic strength of our county. We might look over the list and find the same things elsewhere, but that will not relieve us of the unpleasant idea that we answered when some better men were called. But, Mr. Editor, the part is gone. Let us look to the future. Let us come together now as one man and unite all our energies in one common determination to elect our seven Congressmen in November. The Republican party can take no comfort from our late seeming dissensions. We have carried the State, and we can do it again in November. We shall send Vance to the Senate, and we must return our seven members to the House. There need be no fears of the result in this, the sixth, the seventh or eighth districts. Our western Democrats will sometimes divide a little for amusement and practice, but will unite against the common enemy. Look well to the East, and all is well! J. F. MURRILL. This is a very sad but a very true yarn: Laura Hartley was a sweet-faced, tender-hearted little miss of Sedalia, Mo., who loved Alfred Giltner better than all the world. She was nineteen and he was twenty-two, and he had circled the whitest of her white fingers with a bit of plain gold. Alfred and Richard Smith, both of wellto-do religious families, were a few days ago detected in counterfeiting silver money. There was no doubt of their guilt and they were lodged in jail. Laura was so shocked at the disgrace that she died a few minutes after it came to her ears.

An Undeniable Truth.

You deserve to suffer, and if you ead a miserable unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a sample bottle for ten cents. bins. We follow up to-day our work of exhibiting the record of our Representatives in Congress on the absorbing issues of currency and finance. And we begin, as most convenient, with that of the Hon. W. M. Robbins, of the Seventh District, whose record is, substantially, that of our other Democratic Congressmen, -- one of entire consistency in favor of a liberal monetary policy, in opposition to forced resumption and contraction, the gold monopoly and favoritism to the bondholders and moneykings. We premise that we are indebted to Mr. R., himself, for the compila-

1. When the Resumption Act was passed by the 43rd Congress, he voted against it.

2. He has constantly favored its repeal: and he labored and voted repealing til which passed the House Nov. 23, 1877.

3. January 22, 1874 the House Committee of Ways and Means reported a bill enlarging the limit of U. S. legal-tender notes to $400,000,000. Mr. Robbins voted for this. Amendments were offered to this bill limiting the amount to $356,000,000 and $382,000,000, respectively. Mr. R voted against both these amendments.

4. April 11, 1874, Mr. Beck, of Kentucky, offered in the House a proposition to issue $400,000,000 additional United States Legal tender notes, and gradually substitute them in place of the National Bank currency. Mr. Robbins voted for this; but that House being Republican, it was lost.

5. June 19th, 1878, the Committee on Banking and Currency had a bill before the House providing for the gradual substitution of United States Legal tender notes for National Bank Currency. Mr. Robbins voted for this bill, and it passed the Democratic

6. June 18th, 1878, Mr. Robbins voted for Townsend's bill to forbid the sale of Bonds to raise money for Resumption purposes: and also requiring the Government to receive Legal tender notes for duties on Imports. This bill received a majority vote, but not the the required (wo-thirds majority.

7. June 20th, 1878, Mr. Robbins voted for Southard's bill providing that payment of customs duties might be made in legal tender notes. This bill passed the House, but failed in the Senate.

8. Jan. 29th, 1878, M.: Robbins voted for the Matthews' resolutions declaring that United States Bonds are payable in silver as well as gold, and not in gold only, as the Republican Congress in 1869 had enacted they should be, in order to favor the bond holders.

9. Mr. Robbins voted for the bill re monetizing silver in the early part of the late session, and in favor of sundry amendments to it which looked to the enlargement of the amount of silver coinage.

10. Feb. 28, 1878, the President having vetoed the Silver Bill, Mr. Robbins voted to override the veto and pass the bill, and this was done.

11. April 29, 1878, Mr. Robbins voted for Fort's bill to prevent the further contraction and retirement of Legal Tender Notes, and to require the reissue of such of these as might come into the Treasury in the course of business. This bill passed the House.

The above are given merely as specimen votes of Mr. Robbins on leading financial measures, as shown by the journals of Congress. They clearly define his position, and give a correct idea of the position of the North Carolina Democrats on these measures. Quotations might be given from his speech s if we had 100m, showing his advocacy of the same doctrines, and that he stands by the tax-payers and the workingmen against the unjust exactions of the monopolist and the bond bolder. He says he believes the bond bolders should be paid in the same kind of "lawful money" that other men have to take."

Mr. Robbins tells us that he thinks Democratic speakers and newspapers ought not to denounce the "Nationals" and " Greenbackers" and thus make them our enemies, when the real truth is that their principal aims in regard to the currency question are identical with ours, as our Democratic record shows. The best way, he thinks, for the Greenback men to realize all that is wise and useful in their principles is to remain in the ranks of the Democratic party, and thus enable it in 1880 to put down the survivor of well fought fields, in finally and forever the Radical party, the memory of the flag under which has uniformally legislated in which.

cunning Radical device which threatens o mislead some good and true men. Let us not aid this mischief by inconsiderate abuse of these who are really our allies and who will remain with us it they do not misunderstand us. A harmonious and united Conservative-Democratic party is essential to the political salvation of the country."

These are noble and sensible words. but only such as might have been expected from so patriotic a source. The State has no truer son, as she has had no more saithful Representative, than William M. Robbins. He will carry with him, into what, we trust, may be only a temperary retirement from public service, the consciousness of duty well-discharged. His mantle falls on wortly shoulders, however, and in Col. Armfield's hands the interests and rights of the people will suffer no detriment.

It is a source of profound congratuation that the strikes among the workingmen, in certain localities of the North and West, which were predicted and apprehended, as likely to take place n the early part of the present month, have not transpired. No cause is subserved by violent or extreme measures. That cause has in it the surest elements of might, as well as of right, that seeks redress of grievances through the peaceful agencies of legislation and of the ballot-box. Revolutionary and extralegal proceedings, in a country like ours, must always redound to the injury of those who engage in them. The history of affairs in the United States exhibits no truth better proven or estabished than this.

That the working men and labor associations should have had the good sense to withstand the appeals of turbulent and fanatical agitators speaks volumes in their behalf. Men of the incendiary and comunistic stripe, like Dennis Kearney, and others of that ilk, who would rush them to the verge of lawlessness, are not only their worst enemies in point of fact, but they would be the first to desert them in the hour of actual trouble or danger. History is full of illustrations of this assertion. Some of the most blatant fomenters of fight, North and South, before the beginning of the late war, were the first to take the shade when the clash commenced. Poundtext, in the days of the Covenanters, was a terrible fellow for preaching slaughter and extermination. On one occasion, he had exhausted the vocabulary of denunciation of the "godless" enemy and had wrought his hearers up to the highest pitch of vengeance and sanguinary resolve. Just then the rude artillery of the advancing Cavaliers were heard rumbling in the remote distance, when he vamosed incontinently his improvised pulpit and brought his blood-breathing harangue to a close, with the prudent exclamation: "I will ensconce myself, brethren, behind this stone cairn, lest, peradventure, a pellet of the enemy might attain unto me even here!" And so it is with such fellows the world over.

Golden Words.

Judge Nicholas Longworth, of Cincinnati, has just given the country some thing better than the famous wine with which his name is identified, ( hough the said wine, as the Dominie says in Jacob Faithful, "hath a very seductive flavor.") President Hayes has just addressed the Judge a letter, begging him to accept a nomination for Congress in the First Congressional district, on the ground that his candidacy offers the only hope of Republican success therein. The reply is golden, and the rebuke which he gives to Mr. Hayes, in the following words, is worthy the best days of the Republic : "Though not devoid of all ambition, do not think that one who holds a indicial office should mix in politics, or accept any honors or offices, even though offered without his asking. The constitution of our State provides 'that no Judge of the Supreme Court, or Common Pleas, shall hold any other office of profit or trust, under the authority of his State, or of the United States,' and although it is plain that the State has no power, nor did it intend, to render any person ineligible to Congress who is eli vible under the supreme law of the land, yet I can not avoid the belief that the intention of the Constitution is to remove from Judges the chances of preferment and the hope of honors or re-

"The man whose high duty it is to judge the people in matters involving property, liberty and life should never be the servant or candidate of any party or faction. When he mounts the tribune he should put behind him pleasure, wealth, pride and the hope of attaining anything beyond the approval of honest nen and of his own conscience.

The latest witness examined before the Potter Investigating Committee, one Leete, of New Orleans, adds another chapter to the inside history of the Republican crime in Louisiana. The Republican programme, in which he played a conspicuous part, was, he says, "to keep the colored men from voting." so as to raise the cry of Democratic intimidation. He testifies, also: "I knew very well that Sherman and the visiting statesmen had come down to steal the State." And they did steal it, John Sherman leading off and controlling all he machinery of the fraud. Let him bring on his witnesses, concerning whose testimony he was so confident a short time ago. Every opportunity has been offered him to substantiate his story about the Louisiana election, but he has sneaked away like a whipped cur and has not thus dared to add to his own infamy.

And so there is everything in the memory of the battles which the true men of North Carolina have fought, and the victories they have won, under the banners of Democracy, in the last ten years, to iospire their pride, to cement their union and to incite them to fresh efforts and other triumphs! Divisions in the past would have been fatal to them .- dissension now will be none the less so

.. Brindle-Tails."

Until we consulted Webster's Unabridged, we were really unaware of the full significance of this expression as applicable to a certain class of modern politicians of the hybrid type. We doubt whether, in its original use by the very original individual who applied it, it had the same force and meaning that it now has in reference to himself. "Brindle," says Webster: "A mixture of red and black." And so the modern and model "Brindle-Tail" is one who cavoits alike under the black flag of negroism and the red flag of com-

I have used the Xanthine now for three years, and have induced others to try it, and have never known it to fail in accomplishing all you claim for it. It is an excellent tonic a pleasant dressing, removing and preventing dandruff and all unpleasant itching, promoting and preserving the natural growth and color of the hair, and rendering it glossy and pliable. I confidently, cheerfully and knowingly recommend it.

brought up two prisoners, both colored, and convicted of larceny: Nelson H. Wilson, 2 years; Smith 1 year.

Accident at Warm Springs.

Col. Cline, of Vicksburg, Miss., has been sojourning at the Warm Springs this season. He is a man of wealth and a lover of the gun. As he stood on the balcony of Dr. Howerton's Hotel last Friday he too carelessly touched his gun, when it was discharged. The entire load of eighteen buckshot tore off his right wrist and shot away the muscles of his left arm. The physician amputated one arm at the elbow, the other at the shoulder.

Wake County Prisoners.

Yesterday the following prisoners were taken from jail by Deputy Sheriff J. S. Bryant, and carried to the Penitentiary. They all received sentences at the term of the Criminal court last week. All were colored. Matthew T. Bennett, larceny and receiving, 1 yr.; Jacob Shaw, do., 1 yr.; John Hicks, do., 3 yrs.; Ross Hanks, do., 1 yr.; George Bullock, buggery, 20 yrs.

The following prisoners, both negroes, were taken to the work house, to work out fines and costs: Ed Plummer and Mary Morgan.

For New Berne.

The colored Odd Fellows, of Virtue Lodge, of this city, leave to-day for New Berne, in a special car attached to the mail. They will participate in the anniversary celebration of Golden Link Lodge of that place. Many colored Odd Fellows from other cities will be

The Bucket and Ladder Companies, colored, also go to New Berne this morning, and will remain there a day or

The Mexican Dollar. The Charlotte Observer says :- "The Secretary of the Treasury having debased the Mexican dollar, some of the geniuses of the town have devised a plan, as already stated, for making it costs. pass for its full value, by boring a hole through the dollar, boring a similar hole derwriters Association; judgment for in a silver ten cent piece and hitching the one to the other by means of a piece of wire. This is better than putting a ten cent revenue stamp on the dollar, as has been suggested. The ten cent piece makes it not only current for a dollar but causes it to be sought after. Quite a number were in circulation on the streets, yesterday."

The rainy season must surely have ulminated in last night's downpour. The water fell in sheets, while the roll of thunder and glare of lightning did not cease for hours. The centre of the storm appeared to be north of this point, and it will not be surprising if it did damage. The wind was very high. The sky was luridly glaring with electric flames. Some hail also tell. Now for cooler weather.

bicf Captured.

Chief of Police Lee, yesterday received a telegram from the Chief of Police of Norfolk, stating that one Major Sellers, colored, who was wanted there to answer to a charge of felony, bad escaped and it was presumed had come to this city. Yesterday afternoon the negro was caught and placed in the guard house. He will to-day be taken to Norfolk. He was found to be the same negro who broke into C. D. Heartt's Shoe Store some three years ago, and stole therefrom several pairs of shoes. He at that time ran away and thus escaped punishment. But he will now get his deserts.

Mayor's Court. Yesterday was quiet at this court. Two cases of drunk and down were remanded to the shades of the guard nouse for 24 hours.

Two participants in an affray were held to appear for trial to-day.

James Macklin, colored, was before the Mayor yesterday afternoon, charged with larceny of a wagon from another negro. He was quickly found guilty of the charge and sent to jail in default of $200 bail. Macklin is a notorious thief, and a desperate character. He was tried for his life here for the burglary of the Banks store, not long since, but escaped punishment. Since he has

University Museum.

The distinguished surgeon, Dr. N. A. Pittman, of Tarboro, has donated to the University museum a very interesting specimen of calculus (or "stone in the bladder,") taken from one of his patients. It is of immense size, weighing 21 oz. as large as a hen egg, and is of the "mulberry" variety, or oxalate of lime. Its surface is very rough, hence the name "mulberry." exactly the appearance of the rough balls often found on the limbs of blackjack oaks, and must have caused horrible pain to the victim from whose bladder it was taken.

Urinary calculi are usually smooth, composed of urate or phosphate of lime. Those composed of oxalate of lime are quite rare, and generally do not exceed, at the utmost, one ounce in weight, hence our specimen, being 34 oz. is very extraordinary.

Last Saturday, a large party went out from Beaufort to sea in the schooner Wade Hampton. The waves ran high, a heavy swell was on, the bar was feather white all across. The boat went 25 miles from land. Several Raleigh portly Alderman. As the party got further from land the roughness of the sea had its effect, and signs of sickness became apparent. The Alderman had been assured that lemons were a preventive of the sickness, and so went to work sucking one assiduously. Presently the sufferers were in agonies, and cared for neither death nor life. Still the sucker of lemons stuck to his fruit, and seemed unharmed. But at last his time came, and he caved. It is said that of all sick people ever known he took the lead. Nor has he yet recovered, and still feels sore, both from his sickness and the teasing he gets.

The Weather.

A general average of observations taken at the signal service station in this city, during the first half of the present month, shows the following facts:

Maximum temperature, Minimum Mean Maximum bumidity Minimum

Cloudy days 4; clear days 8; mixed 3; prevaling winds-South. The most conspicuous feature has been the high average humidity and light winds. This accounts for the op pressive, sultry weather during the specified time. In fact the dampness has been so great, during a portion of this month, that it seriously interfered with several industries carried on here. The cabinet makers, sash, door and blind manufacturers and the cigar makers have lost considerable time on ### that account. Too Great a Barden.

A married man of this city, who is now at Beaufort, has been noted for his attention to the fair sex, his wife being absent. A day or two since, a party of ladies and gentiemen, this gal-lant among them, went to the lighthouse. Arrived near that charming locality, the boat, as usual, went aground, nor could it be gotten off; so each cavalier was compelled to divest him of a portion of his garments, and, taking one of the timid fair ones in his arms, bear her ashore. All quickly adopted this plan of proceedure, and made choice of a burden. Our dilatery hero was left finally with a lady who would tip the scale at 200 pounds avoirdupois. But his courage, even in the face of this, failed him not. He stepped over the side, she availed herself of his strength, and boldly for the shore he started. His course was pursued safely, until when near the beach he stepped suddenly into a deep place. Quick as a flash both he and his fair burden disappeared. Borne down under the water by the great weight above, he would have died without a sign, while the lady would have shared his fate, had not his more lucky friends rescued them from the perilous predicament. The appearance of the pair was unique, but they bore their sorrows and the chaffing

Served Him Right.

Reports come from Asheville that on Friday last, two men named Deaver were driving a buggy near there, and met a man against whom they had a grudge. One of the Deavers jumped from the buggy, and, taking the whip, gave his enemy a terrible thrashing Ceasing only from exhaustion, he took his seat in the buggy and the pair drove off. They had gone but a little way, when the other Deaver said he desired to thrash the man too. So he got out and went back to where the whipped man was. The latter seeing him coming, ran through the woods. Deaver followed close at his heels. Finally the pursued man's strength gave out and he could no farther go. As his pursuer came up with him, he stood at bay, and told him to come no further; that he had submitted to one whipping but would stand no more. Deaver yet came on, when the man shot him through the heart.

The Minstrels. Thursday evening, 22nd inst., the Select Minstrels, composed of some of the best amateur talent in this city or the State, will appear before the public at Tucker Hall. The programme is both varied and attractive, and consists of choice and new musical selections, both vocal and instrumental. There are also laughable farces and some good fancy dances. This performance, unlike those ordinarily given by strolling players, will be characterized by an ab sence of all loudness or indecency. Ladies, it is hoped, will therefore feel no hesitation in attending. The proceeds of the performance will be plied to the benefit of the Raleigh Light Infantry Band.

A Healthy Body and a Clear Head.

If i digestion, constipation and biliousness torment the body, the head cannot be clear. These disorders react upon the brain most hurtfully, and produce a cloudness in the organ of thought not experienced by a healthy man. Happily these brain-oppress ing maladies may be entirely dispelled by that peerless alterative, Hostetter's stomach Bitters, which cheers, refreshes and invigorates the brain and nerves, while it regulates the organs of digestion, assimilation and bilious secretion. It expels the morbid humors which poison the system through the bowels and urinary passages, and exetsg a powerfully invigorating influence as well. Its cathartic action is never irritating, violent or painful, but even, natural and progressive. As an appetizer and sleep promoter the Bitters is unrivalled; it mitigates the infirmittes of age, relieves the aliments peculiar to the gentler sex, arrests premature decay, and builds up an enfeebled physique. # POWDER

We ask all cooks, housewives, and the general public to give our gools ar impartial trial. This Powder is carefully prepared upon scientific principles—the result of long and careful experiments and tests in chemistry. In its proportions and compounding, it is the perfecting of science, and is recommended by the leading Coemists in the United States, whose extincates we have. It is perfectly pure and wholesome, and saves time, labor and money is every consumer. It stands t arrivaled; we challenge the world to produce better, pure more wholesome goods.

REASONS WHY IT SHOULD BE USED:

A BARREL OF FLOUR MAKES ABOUT 40 POUNDS MORE BREAD IT NEVER FAILS AND ALWAYS PLEASES THE CONSUMER. IT IS THE PERFECTION OF SCIENCE IN COOKERY. IT IS A COMFORT FOR EVERY HOME. YOUR BREAD WILL NEVER BE SOUR. YOUR FOOD WILL BE THE BEST. YOUR BREAD WILL BE WHITER AND RICHER. YOUR HEALTH WILL BE PRESERVED BY ITS PURITY.

WARRANTED TO KEEP IN ANY CLIMATE

We do most earne-tly caution consumers of Baking Powder agalust using adulterated and cheap goods, as no good and pure Baking rowder can be sold for less than ours.

An analysis of the cheap clap-trap spurious adulterated goods called Baking Powder, would startle the community of consumers beyond precedence, as most of it is not fit for use, and would not be allowed to be sold were the laws enforced; yet goods of this kind are manufactured and sold by dealers because offered cheap by uns rupulous manufacturers. We caution those who value health, and appreciate good, wholesome living, to buy only Pure Baking Powder. Jones' Unrivaled is such. It is an established article through utthe West and South, and is recommended by the highest authority for Purity and strength All first-class storekeepers have it because it is pure and can be relied upon, and is a credit to their stock.

Merchants are authorized to warrant our goods where directions are followed.

Our statements are correct and are backed by chemists of note and experience, and we hold ourselves ready to prove our assertions.

We are offering goods of undoubted purity which are in their compounding, as we claim "UNRIVALED."
